

Design: Masako Ban

"-mashita" is not a past tense!

Pera Pera Penguin's

5-minute Japanese Class by Hitomi Hirayama

Vol. 26

When I first came to Japan two years ago, my company introduced me to a Japanese host family so that I could live with them for several months and learn about Japanese culture firsthand. I was thin when I lived with them, but gained a lot of weight after moving to my own apartment, since I couldn't resist the temptation to eat all the Japanese food I had grown to love. I started exercising to lose some weight and thought I had become slim again. But when I visited my host family the other day, the mother asked, "sukoshi futuri-mashita ka? (Did you used to be fat?)" I thought I gained weight only after I moved out, but why did she know that I used to be fat?

■ Although you have learned "-mashita" as a past tense form, that is not the only way of using it. It is also used to describe present conditions.

There are two different usages of "-mashita," as described below. I'll focus on B) for this lesson, but please let me briefly explain A) for now. I will discuss it further in a future lesson.

A) '-mashita' or the ta-form is generally used to describe what is happening, such as "(something) ga ki-mashita. (something) is coming." (particle ...ga (communication, vehicles, events, living things))

- (something) arrives
- is coming

e.g., (I waited at a train station, and I saw the train coming) Here comes the train!

(polite form)

あ！電車が来ました！
a! densha ga ki-mashita!

(friendly form)

あ！電車が来た！
a! densha ga kita!

B) '-mashita' or ta-form is generally used when you want to describe a physical / mental condition.

- I feel _____ (at that moment)
- ____ appears to be ... (at that moment)

e.g., I'm so tired. (to be tired ... tsukare-masu)

(polite form)

疲れました。
tsukare-mashita
(past tense of 'masu-form')

(friendly form)

疲れた。 tsukareta (ta-form)

"-mashita" is generally used when you are describing a physical or mental condition.

GOHON...

GOHON...

■■■ I think you misunderstood what she said. It is really difficult to explain your mistake in general grammar terms, so please allow me to use my own grammar, which I call "Hitomi Grammar," to explain your misunderstanding. In the past, I think you have studied the form, "-mashita," as the past tense form of "-masu." But now what I want you to remember is that the conjugated verb "-mashita" is not just a past tense form but is also used to describe something else in daily conversations. It may seem hard to believe that this is true, but certainly you have noticed that Japanese people sometimes use this form in ways different from what you have studied.

- I feel _____ (at that moment)
 - ____ appears to be ... (at that moment)
- (polite form) (friendly form) (polite form)

- | | | | | | |
|------------------------|--------------------------------------|---|------------------------|---|--|
| 1. I'm tired. | 疲れました。
tsukare-mashita | / | 疲れた。
tsukareta | ▶ | <input type="text"/> |
| 2. I forgot. | 忘れました。
wasure-mashita | / | <input type="text"/> | ▶ | <input type="text"/> |
| 3. I understand. | <input type="text"/> | / | わかった。
wakatta | ▶ | わかっています。
wakatte-imasu |
| 4. I remember. | <input type="text"/> | / | 思い出した。
omoidashita | ▶ | 覚えています。 / 知っています。
oboete-imasu / shitte-imasu |
| 5. I'm in trouble. | <input type="text"/> | / | 困った。
komatta | ▶ | <input type="text"/> |
| 6. I got lost. | 迷いました。
mayoi-mashita | / | 迷った。
mayotta | ▶ | <input type="text"/> |
| 7. I gained weight. | <input type="text"/> | / | 太った。
futotta | ▶ | <input type="text"/> |
| 8. I lost weight. | やせました。
yase-mashita | / | やせた。
yaseta | ▶ | <input type="text"/> |
| 9. I smiled / laughed. | 笑いました。
warai-mashita | / | <input type="text"/> | ▶ | <input type="text"/> |
| 10. I have a cold. | 風邪をひきました。
kaze o hiki-mashita | / | 風邪をひいた。
kaze o hita | ▶ | <input type="text"/> |
| 11. I'm hungry. | お腹が空きました。
onaka ga suki-mashita | / | <input type="text"/> | ▶ | お腹が空いています。
onaka ga suite-imasu |
| 12. I'm thirsty. | のどがかわきました。
nodo ga kawaki-mashita | / | <input type="text"/> | ▶ | のどがかわいています。
nodo ga kawaite-imasu |

• I feel... at that moment.

疲れました。
tsukare-mashita
I'm tired.

• the condition continues.

▶ 疲れています。
tsukarete-imasu
I have been tired (since...).

1. Oh, man... it's already noon! No wonder I'm so hungry!

うわ～ もう 12時。 どうりで と思った。
uwā mō jū-ni-ji dōride to omotta
Oh already 12 o'clock no wonder I thought

2. (friendly form) Oh, I see! I've got it now!

あ～ そうだったのか。
ā sō datta no ka friendly form of "I didn't know that."

3. I have a fever and a cough that won't stop... It seems I've got a cold.

熱があるし...セキも出るし...。 みたいです。 netsu ga aru shi...seki mo deru shi... mitai desu fever have cough also comes out seems

4. (friendly form) Oops! I forgot the keys!

あっ！ カギを
a kagi o
I forgot

5. (polite form) Geez, I've been working overtime lately, and I'm so tired.

ふう～ ずっと 残業が続いていますので 。
fū zutto zangyō ga tsuzuite-imasu node Geez for long time overtime have been...ing reason

6. (polite form) I have some trouble at home.

家庭の事で 。 katē no koto de home matter

7. (polite form) Now I remember!

やっと
yatto
I remember

8. (friendly form) Gosh, I'm thirsty! "A draft beer, please!"

あ～ 『生ビール お願いします』
ā 『nama-beer onegaishimasu』 draft please (request)

9. Mr. A: (friendly form) Did you lose weight?

?
Have you lost weight ?

Mr. B: No, I gained some weight because of the stress at work.

ううん 。ストレス太りです。
uun stress-butori desu to gain weight because of stress

▲ Answers

1. onaka ga suite 2. wakatta 3. kaze o hita 4. wasureta
5. tsukarete-imasu 6. komatte-imasu 7. omoidashi-mashita
8. nodo ga kawaita 9. yaseta 10. futotta

◀ Answers

1. tsukarete-imasu 2. wasureta, wasurete-imasu 3. wakari-mashita
4. omoidashi-mashita 5. komari-mashita, komatte-imasu 6. mayotte-imasu
7. futuri-mashita, futotte-imasu 8. yasete-imasu 9. waratta, waratte-imasu
10. kaze o hite-imasu 11. onaka ga suite 12. nodo ga kawaita